

If you get a kick out of gore, 'Nightmare' is a dream

MOVIE REVIEW

Louisville Times rating: ★

By DUDLEY SAUNDERS

Louisville Times Critic

"Nightmare" is another ludicrously inept blood bath aimed at folks who would get a kick out of seeing throats slit and blood pumping from a headless corpse. It is at Showcase Cinemas.

This one starts pouring on the blood during the very first minute and was still pouring a half-hour later when I abandoned ship.

The chopped up bodies unnerved me, but it was the hopelessly confused script, the amateurish acting and the woefully bad production values that finally drove me out.

The actors must have paid the producer to let them be in the picture. You can get better amateurs than these on any college campus.

A maniac keeps having nightmares in which people get chopped up. Sometimes the maniac is involved with the chopping.

Sometimes he is a little boy with an axe in his hand and blood on his face.

The maniac somehow or other manages to escape his psychiatrist in New York and heads for Florida, doing a little chopping along the way. He's apparently just practicing up for what he wants to do in Florida.

This turkey would never have passed the health inspectors.

You'll hate yourself if you spend money on this one.

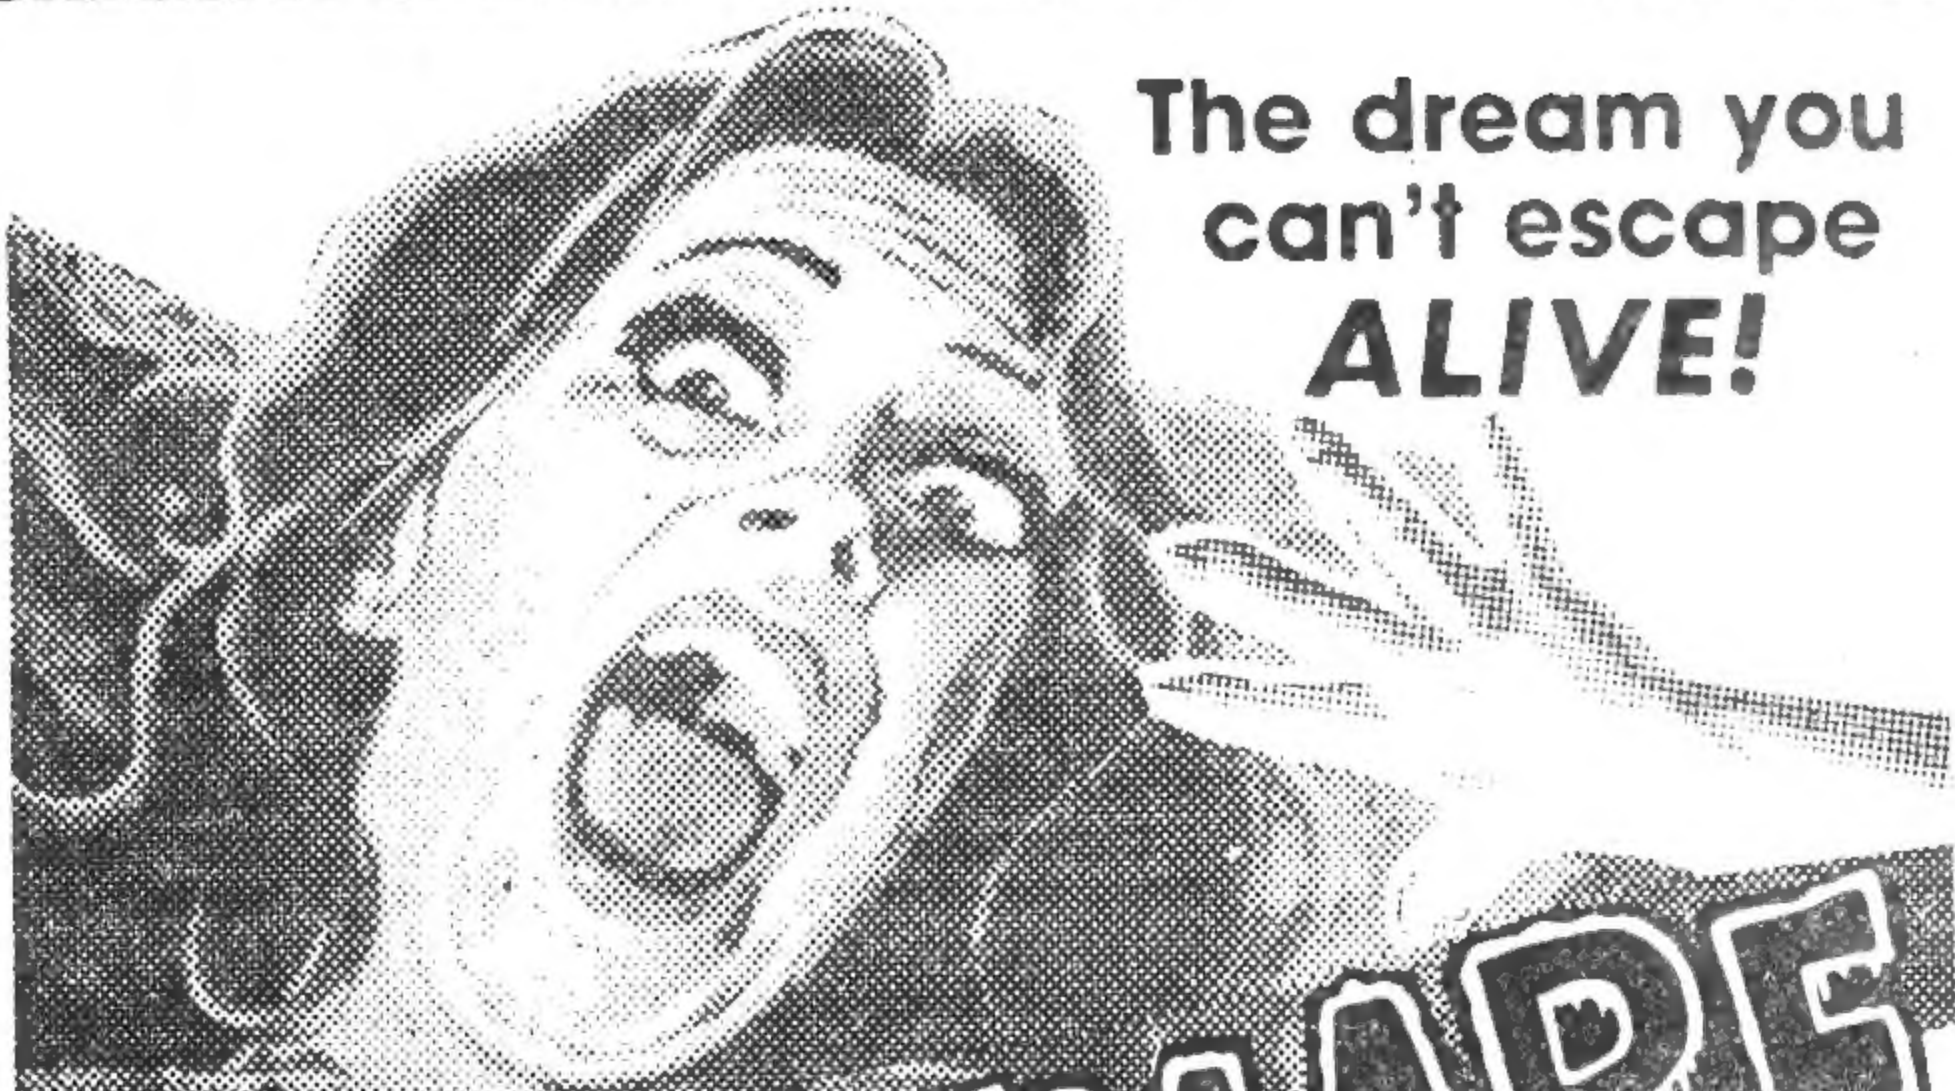

SENSITIVITY RATING

Female nudity. Implied sex. It runneth over with blood and gore. Profanity. Unrated, but would get an R.

TONIGHT! SPECIAL MIDNIGHT

PREVIEW

The dream you can't escape
ALIVE!

NIGHTMARE

U

DAVID JONES Presents
A GOLDMINE PRODUCTION

NO ONE UNDER THE AGE OF 17 WILL BE ADMITTED
DUE TO THE VIOLENT NATURE OF THIS FILM

Starring SHARON SMITH • BAIRD STAFFORD
Also Starring MIK CRIBBEN • KATHLEEN FERGUSON

Released by 21st CENTURY DISTRIBUTION CORPORATION